LOGO

Mediation Explained · What UnLitigate Does · About Us · EN / हि · Get in Touch

1 · HERO · choice first (C) · about 35 words

Student-led initiative · Pilot starting in Bhubaneswar and Pune

Unlitigate your disputes.

Court is not the only way to resolve a dispute. Mediation is a guided conversation where both sides work toward an agreement they choose.

Explore your options See how it works

"Explore your options" goes to the Google Form (new tab). Label matches what we actually do today: take enquiries and explain options. Change to "Get in Touch" if you prefer.

Court

Formal proceedings. A judge decides the outcome. Timelines can be long.

Mediation

A guided conversation. Both sides work toward an agreement they choose.

Two simple door shapes, calm colours, no scales or gavels. Wording says "can", "often" and "usually", never promises. Small line under the doors: "Not every dispute suits mediation." No statistics for now.

2 · WHERE ARE YOU RIGHT NOW? (from B) · about 50 words

Where are you right now?

Pick the one closest to your situation. We'll show you what to read next.

Thinking of filing
See what else you could try first.

Notice received
Understand your options before you reply.

Already in court
Find out whether talking could still help.

Stuck for years
Look at a different way forward.

Each card scrolls to its own short section on Mediation Explained (about 80 words each) ending with the form button. Plain links, no logic. Not legal advice, so no promises.

3 · COURT AND MEDIATION, SIDE BY SIDE (logos) · 4 rows

Two paths, side by side

Time	Can take a long time, depending on the court and the case.	Often shorter, but it depends on both sides.
Cost	Court and lawyer costs can add up over time.	Usually lower, and costs are often shared.
Control	A judge decides the outcome.	You and the other side decide together.
Privacy	Hearings are usually public.	Conversations are kept confidential.

Not every dispute suits mediation, and an agreement is never guaranteed.

Phone: each row becomes a stacked card. Please verify each row before publishing. Add source links if we use any figures later.

4 · WHY WE STARTED (A's soul, replaces testimonials) · 3 stories · about 150 words

Why we started

We don't have client stories yet. Here are ours.

PHOTO: Anushka

"Ma'am, you'll have to come to court every day. Are you sure?"

Somewhere in India, someone is about to drop their case. Not because they were wrong. Because fighting costs money, and years of peace. UnLitigate your disputes and choose your agency.

Anushka Jena, Co-founder

PHOTO: Madhur

[Madhur's one-line reason]

[About 40 words: the moment, person or experience that made Madhur join.]

Madhur [surname], Co-founder

PHOTO: Prakhar

[Prakhar's one-line reason]

[About 40 words: why he joined after the project began.]

Prakhar [surname], Core Team

Three different reasons make the trust stronger than one. Use real moments, not slogans. Full versions live on About Us.

5 · THE BENCH BAND (recurring brand motif) · punchline about 20 words

Unlitigate your disputes.

Choosing mediation is not giving up. It is taking control of how your dispute ends.

Dev note: the thread shortens as the visitor scrolls through this band (frames above show start, middle, end). Light CSS only. Static two-people image on phones if slow, and for people who prefer reduced motion. No loading screen, so nobody is made to wait. The same motif repeats small in the footer and as the favicon.

6 · HOW IT WORKS, AND WHERE WE ARE · about 90 words

What we do, and where we are today

Live now

Awareness and enquiries
Plain-language reels, posts and this site. Tell us about your situation and we'll help you understand your options.

Pilot starting [date to confirm]

Supervised student mediators
Trained students facilitating suitable disputes under supervision, in Bhubaneswar and Pune.

Being built

Referral partnerships
Working toward links with university mediation centres. [Update when confirmed.]

Honest status labels, so we never present future services as existing ones. Change each label as things become true. The three steps (Tell us, Talk it through, Agree in writing) sit on Mediation Explained.

See what we do →

7 · TRUST STRIP (for centres, universities, lawyers)

- Backed by Students for Liberty
- Supervised by [name, to confirm]
- Confidential and consent-based
- Only suitable disputes
- Pilot in Bhubaneswar and Pune

Each tile links to Safeguards on What UnLitigate Does. Only list what is true on launch day.

8 · THE TEAM · photo + 30-word bio each

Who is behind this

PHOTO

Anushka Jena
Co-founder · Bhubaneswar operations

PHOTO

Madhur [surname]
Co-founder · Pune operations

PHOTO

Prakhar [surname]
Core Team · Partnerships and Outreach

Prakhar's title is a suggestion. Adding "Pune" to his card is optional.

9 · CALL TO ACTION

Ready to explore your options?

Tell us what's happening. Two minutes, plain words, and you choose what to share.

Explore your options (opens Google Form)

Mobile: sections stack in this order, the two doors sit one above the other, and a sticky "Get in Touch" button stays at the bottom of the screen.

10 · FOOTER

UnLitigate shares general information about mediation. It is not legal advice. We use simple analytics to understand how visitors find this site.

Instagram · LinkedIn
[contact email]
Small bench-and-thread motif here